

E. B. H. S. Nominates Class Officers Today

Faculty Plans Musical Show

An original musical entitled "Faculty Frolics" will be presented by the East Brunswick High School faculty on March 10, in the school auditorium. The purpose of the show is to raise money for the purchase of band uniforms.

The show, which will be a combination of skits, songs and dances, is under the direction of Mr. Elliot Taubenslag. Rehearsals for the show are now underway.

As planned thus far, the production will consist of two acts, with twelve scenes in the first act and ten in the second. Among the scenes in the first act which should draw attention are "Feudin' in the Ozarks", "Unicycle", "I'm in Love with Mr. Logan", "You Rat", and "On Thirty Third Street".

Highlights of the second act include "Jazz Combo", "Kids", "Lecture", and "Sweet Annie".

Although casting is still incomplete, students are sure to find some of their favorite faculty members on the program for the evening. For example,

The nominating convention for class officers in grades 9-11 will be held today after school. Once the nominees have been selected, campaigning will begin, culminating on Friday, February 3, when elections will be held.

Among those running for eleventh grade class president are: Steve Bingert, Dale Wentzel and Ralph Marsh.

Petitioning for eleventh grade vice presidents are Penny Valenta, Carol Ann Gucwa and Mark Spencer.

Dot Wiskowski is the only eleventh grader running for class secretary, and Richie Rosenberg is the only one seeking class treasurer.

Seeking the presidency of the tenth grade class are Larry Schenck and Alan Goddard.

Among the petitions for vice-president are: Lynne Roworth, Eilene Kuzmann, Kenneth Socha and Bill Hall.

The position of secretary is sought by B. Buchanan, Ellen Ripsh and Rosemary Schlank. Running for treasurer are Carolyn Miller, Lilly Wei and Andrea Spaulding.

The office of class president for the ninth grade is being sought by Rick Berg, Joe Choma and Robert Webb.

Jolan Force, Wayne Kulesa, Joanie Chahanski, Ronnie Opaleski and Marie Chiodo are all seeking the title of vice president for the ninth grade.

For post of secretary, Diane Guarino and Joyce Lease are running. The position of ninth grade treasurer is being sought by Richard Roe, Sandy Brown and Joanne Gunther.

Science Fair Set

On March 4, 1961, students of E.B.H.S. will again exhibit projects at the annual science fair. The purpose of the science fair is to gain public recognition for hardworking students who are interested in science.

This year the fair will be conducted in a manner similar to last year's with a few changes: Mrs. Johanna Childers is chairman of the science fair committee, Mrs. Helen Fine, the former chairman, is now in charge of publicity, and Mrs. Laura Yuille is in charge of the awards for the fair.

School Paper Becomes Member Of Columbia Scholastic Press

With the publication of the January issue of the Campus Courier, the E.B.H.S. newspaper is entering upon a new phase of its growth.

For the first time since 1958-1959 school year, the Campus Courier has become a member of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. In order to join the association, the Campus Courier editors submitted the October and November issues of the paper for evaluation by the press association.

Awards will be announced and released to the press at the 37th Annual Convention on March 10, 1961.

The Columbia Scholastic Press Association, founded in 1925, is an organization of school publications sponsored by Columbia University. It conducts annual contests for newspapers, magazines, and yearbooks, on all educational levels from elementary through college and university.

The yearbook conference is held annually in October and a convention for newspaper and magazine editors and their advisers is held in March.

Publications scoring 850-1000 points receive First Place rating; 750-849, Second Place; 650-749, Third Place; below 650, Fourth Place. The first three receive certificates embossed in gold, silver, and bronze, respectively. The fourth place position does not carry an award. A limited number of publications of distinction are selected from First Place to receive a special certificate, thus achieving "Medalist" rating.

NEW CLUB

The Future Nurses of America Club, which was started earlier last month, plans to visit various hospitals and nursing schools and also collect information on the various aspects of nursing schools and colleges. The club is open to all tenth and eleventh graders and is under the direction of Mrs. Edyth DeGaetano and Mrs. Fuller.

the paper was started in the

'New Look' Hits School Publication

All of the regular readers of the Campus Courier probably notice a change in the looks of this month's edition. If you examine the edition closely, various changes are apparent, including the kinds of type used in headlines.

The headline faces used in previous papers belonged to a type family called Bodoni Bold. In this issue a new type family has been introduced: Franklin Gothic Type.

The reason for the change in format is that the Campus Courier has a new printer, the Mariano Press, New Brunswick.

Admission Directors Address Students On College Entrance Procedures

"Our State University" was the name of the guidance program which took place last night in the E.B.H.S. cafeteria. The program was for the benefit of all eleventh grade college bound students and their parents.

The main speakers were Dr. Harold Evans, Associate Director of Admissions at Rutgers, and Miss Mary Lou Rounslee, Assistant Dean of Admissions at Douglass. The topic of the program was college entrance procedures. Other topics discussed were finances and the advantages of the many college divisions of Rutgers.

Along with the 93 eleventh graders who took the P.S.A.T. tests in October, tenth graders who plan on a college education and their parents were also invited to the program.

After the discussion, there was a question and answer program and refreshments were served. Other activities concerning college which the guidance department has been involved in are the weekly guidance programs on Mondays, and the counseling of individual students who have received their P.S.A.T. scores.

During the individual counseling sessions, Mrs. Mary Dwyer, Director of Guidance, makes certain that each student clearly understands the meaning of his scores and is familiar with the types of colleges for which he is best suited.

In connection with the counseling, a supply of reference books on colleges and professions has been placed in the conference rooms between the Language Arts rooms.

Committee Selects Yearbook Editors

The Yearbook Committee, under the direction of Mr. Robert Winston, has selected Marlene Novak as Editor-in-Chief and Danny Pedreira as the Business Manager. Both are juniors and will be members of E.B.H.S.'s first graduating class.

advertising manager and Susan Black, bookkeeper.

Mr. Winston has announced that the Delmar Company has been selected to be the printers of the annual, which is scheduled to be ready for circulation on June 2, 1962.

The committee, which consists of juniors and sophomores, meets every Thursday in the Student Council room.

The yearbook, which will mark another "first" for East Brunswick High School, will cost $2980. In order to place the yearbook in reach of everyone, an extensive advertising and subscription drive will be conducted as part of the advertising and circulation functions of the publication.

Around with Brown

Hi there! This issue's anecdotes have come from varied sources to you. Hope you like them!

Mrs. K has received a composition on gum chewing from a certain seventh grader. He said that chewing gum in class "not only annoys people, but teachers too."

To draw a gaily decorated cart across the stage during the last act of "The Royal Fool", a real live horse called Buster was used. But Buster was full of surprises, as everyone in the cast soon found out. After a dress rehearsal in which Buster was used, Mr. T. instructed Joan Shippers to stand by with a shovel and mop during performance time.

Orchids:

... to Mr. Elefante and Mr. Higgins for putting up those interesting signs on our bulletin boards as advertisements for a certain newspaper being sold on this campus. I've seen several and particularly like the little spaghetti baby in Building #5.

... to Jim Sabo for his trophy award. He even had to go through "show and tell" with it in English class!

... to the Social Committee for their beautiful decoration of the cafeteria for the Christmas semi-formal. Where did they ever get such a beautiful tree?

... to our German teacher, Miss Schwartzkopf. For those who watched T.V. on Saturday night, Jan. 14th, you might have seen her on the "Ted Steel Dance Party".

... to Mike Frizell, Lynn D'Antone, and Al Zennetti. They are the three art students selected from East Brunswick High to attend Saturday morning classes at Rutgers. The instructor is Mr. Ronald Stein—who has exhibited at Whitney Museum and the Guggenheim—among other museums.

I'm sure many people are sorry to see Mrs. Anita Boney leave EBHS, among them, her third year Spanish students. For a Christmas present, they sent away for a silver pin, but because of the snow, the gift arrived late. On it is inscribed "Feliz Navidad de su clase de español III, 1960" (For those who do not know Spanish, it means "Merry Christmas from your class of Spanish III, 1960").

Open Letter to the Junior Class

To the Junior Class:

Congratulations! It's been a long, hard pull, but you've finally made it. Your many hours of working and scraping and saving, and sometimes begging, have not been in vain. You've received your class rings.

Besides meaning you are now a full-pledged junior, what does your ring signify? Well, think back to all those years of grammar school and your dreams of this day. The ring means your dream is coming true. But did you ever think of how many days and hours, and "A's" and "B's" went into making that dream come true? Most of you have spent 12 years of your young lives in school. Do you know how many days that is? It is approximately 2160 days. That's almost half of your life. The ring is the climax of 51,840 hours, or 3,110,400 minutes, or 186,624,000 seconds of lecturing, reciting, questioning, testing and running from class to class in the bitter cold or smoldering heat. It signifies that you have survived more than 2160 hours in homework. It also means that you have successfully lived through approximately 350 days of calisthenics and hot showers in gym class.

What else does it mean? To most of you it means just one more year to go, till it's all over and you're out, wishing you were back in again. Yes, the ring means this and much more; those hours spent in detention class before you finally learned to stop chewing gum (or skillfully to hide it), or all the weight lost while in basketball training; or the breath exhaled while practicing for A Capella Choir or the School Band; or your sore feet after marching during the football games.

But, as the man said, "All kidding aside..." The ring is a little more than all this. Remember your first day at East Brunswick High School? You looked at those seven unfinished buildings and said to yourself, "There's a lot to be done!" You were right, but you've done it. The small pieces of antique gold with the green stone that adorns your finger proves it. Behind that ring is three years of experience, pride, and growing tradition. You have built those seven unfinished buildings into a High School. Take a good look at your ring. Around the stone is written East Brunswick H. S. and right there between two small stars, is a little "1". It doesn't take up much space. It's not very big, but it bestows upon you one of the biggest honors of your life. You, the Junior Class, will be the first graduating class of East Brunswick High School.

Sincerely,

The Editorial Staff of the Campus Courier

Our Apologies

The editors, the staff of the Campus Courier, and their advisor, Mrs. Ellen Fraser, would like to extend their sincere apologies to the subscribers of the Campus Courier for the absence of the December issue of the paper because of the December snow storm and the seven day holiday from classes caused by the storm. The newspaper staff will make up the difference in the subscriptions by publishing a double issue of the Campus Courier in the spring of the year.

acting would be lucky to be in Mrs. Anne Shiffman's seventh period English class. They are learning about the different forms of drama. While they studied the musical comedy, the strains of music form the "King and I" were heard through the halls of building #5. And on February 2, they will be going to see a presentation of King Lear at Princeton.

Mrs. Davis reports that there is a fiction book in our school library called Drag Strip by William Gault. There is also a picture of the author on the back which bears a striking resemblance to one of our teachers, Mr. Taylor. Is this true?

COUNCIL QUIPS & Clues

Congratulations to those people on the Student Council who helped organize the procedure for election of class officers. One couldn't help but notice the enthusiastic petitioners during the past two weeks. It seems that many competent people are running for office. In fact, it was hard to sign only one petition! However, some combated this problem by signing everyone's petition!

Many students have asked the question, "What are class officers for?" Briefly I would like to clarify the purpose of class officers. The new officers (especially eleventh grade officers) will face some difficult challenges. It will be the duty of the officers to plan class trips, class dances, class assemblies, alumni organizations and to set up a committee to plan the yearbooks.

The officers will also work along with the Student Council to solve any problems which may occur in a specific grade. This year's eleventh grade officers will be responsible for planning a Junior Prom and perhaps even deciding on where the senior class will go on a trip. I hope each grade will elect capable people for their officers. Let's not make this election a popularity contest.

Many thanks to Don Cotter and the people who worked along with him for the lovely decorations for the Christmas Semi-Formal. The decorations were just "out of this world". Many thanks also to Mrs. Wagner and her staff who helped with the refreshments. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Biringier, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Navickas, Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Taubenslag, Dr. and Mrs. Donald Fraser, Mr. Joseph Stanco, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Koty and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Guewa, chaperoned. On behalf of the Social Committee I would like to thank all our guests and chaperones for attending the dance.

The Faculty Tea sponsored by the Social Committee was also a huge success. Many of our faculty members were present. Mrs. Eugene Biringier and Joyce Weiss, Student Council President, poured. A special thank you to Mrs. Mary Dwyer who let us borrow her beautiful silver tea service. Thanks are also due to the home economics classes for the delicious cookies.

the shadow knows...

The Shadow was on the prowl again this month. This unknown character was again peering into windows, sneaking around corners and, in general, making like Elliot Ness. Here's a blow-by-blow account of an average day in the life of one of your best friends, as seen through the omniscient eyes of The Shadow.

J. Adams
Last Month's Victim

8:40 Passed out lab books for Mrs. Fine.
8:45 Dropped his pencil; told Bob Knapp "Oh! Get me that pencil."
8:48 Scratched his ear, fixed his glasses, played with his pencil, and pushed his glasses up again.
8:55 Talked with Vic Wasowicz while Mrs. Fine explained the experiment.
8:57 Tied Ken Pearson's lab apron after demonstrating he was capable of doing his own.
9:00 Asked Ken, "Did you wrestle yesterday?"
9:05 "Hey! it's cold in here!" and proceeded to close the windows.

9:06 Worked on his experiment.

9:25 "Hey (Mrs. Fine) my reaction stopped. What happened?"

10:05 Put lab apron back in cabinet; checked gas jets.

Student Guidance Committee has been singled out for "Committee of the Month." Lynn Piattowski, chairman, has worked along with Mrs. Sandra Silver, advisor, to set up various subcommittees. Among these committees are Bulletin Board, Handbook Revision, Vocational Librarians, Typing Aids and Welcoming.

Edwin Meissner, Chairman of the Bulletin Board Committee, will work along with his committee in setting up bulletin board displays concerning guidance and vocational information.

The Handbook Revisions Committee with Helen McGraw as chairman, is responsible for editing and revising our Student Handbook.

Doug Sachs heads the Vocational Librarians Committee which will help with filing, cataloging and registering for trips and programs.

Donna Krupa's Typing Aids Committee will assist in being helpful in the guidance office. Finally, Francene Schiff, Chairman of the Welcoming Committee, will help orient new students in our school throughout the year.

10:06 Fixed his sweater and left the class laughing.
11:05 Looked intently at the blackboard.
11:09 Went to the shelves to get some books.
11:15 Went into the back room for more information.
12:00 Worked with enthusiasm.
12:05 Talked to Joe Moscar.

12:08 Asked Richie Cananico for something; looked at Ken Pearson's English notes.
12:21 "Shot" Jay Adams.

12:21 Asked a question, tucked his shirt in, pushed his glasses up.
12:26 Blew his nose and then talked to Woody.
12:27 Said, "Ayers, you're afraid of Jerry."
12:28 Answered a question wrong; then talked to Richie.
12:30 Spun paper around his pencil.
12:35 Answering a question, he got the class all confused.
12:37 Drew a picture on the desk.
12:39 Talked to Jay and fixed his hair.
12:42 Shined his shoes and smelled a piece of paper.

12:40 Fixed his glasses and coughed.
12:45 Made a motion of choking himself and turned around to a friend.

12:50 Began talking with his hands and mouth.
1:00 Punched Pete Ayers.
1:07 Stuck a pencil in and out of his sweater.
1:09 Put his pencil in his mouth.
1:27 Copied homework off board.
1:29 Bit his nails; erased the next problem.
1:35 Played with his knee.
1:40 Crouched over his work, glanced at the blackboard and back to his paper.
1:44 Sat back, folded his arms and watched Mr. Bodnar.

1:45 Talked to Vic Wasowicz.
1:48 Rocked his knee back and forth.
1:49 Took off his glasses and waved them in the air as he yelled out an answer.
1:51 Yawned a double yawn.
1:52 Yelled out a question and gave Mr. Bodnar an idea to use on the next math test.

Due to the lack of space in the paper, our day ends with the close of sixth period.

An Extra Hour -- How Would You Pass the Time?

by Peggy Auger

Scientifically, time never changes. It goes on for 60 seconds per minute, 24 hours per day. But I challenge science. Why, as soon as the phone rings, does time start racing? An hour is gone before you've talked for 20 minutes. Why do those last two minutes rush by like two seconds just when your losing basketball team cuts the ten point lead to four points? I can never accomplish all I want to because Mr. Time is so unfair, if only I had an extra hour. Inspiration! What would people do with an extra hour? A poll like that should be amusing. So I made a survey which went like this:

"Hi Bonnie!" I said, "Say, if you could add one hour to your day, what would you do?"

"Sleep."

Well, that was a quick but unoriginal answer. I felt I would have to do better to make this story funny. Well, there's a busy girl, she ought to have something to do in that extra hour.

"Maureen, oh Maureen," I panted as I caught up to her,

Meet Your Underclassmen

Sometimes it seems as if there are difficulties involved in having a high school which houses grades 7-11. The upperclassmen tend to be the ones who hold all the important offices and play on all the teams. Thus, these are the people who often become the well known personalities on the campus while the seventh and eighth graders are overshadowed by their "big brothers and sisters."

To help to alleviate this situation, the Campus Courier has inaugurated this feature dedicated to introducing to you some of the underclassmen in our high school. This month, Pat House, one of our eighth grade reporters interviewed two of our eighth graders and we'd like to introduce them to you now.

Grace Coltharp

According to some of her friends, we may have a future actress in our school in the person of Grace Coltharp. Grace, who is 13 years old, went to elementary school at Crandall, Memorial and Irwin. She is now an eighth grader in Mrs. Olga Sweeney's 8-2 Language Arts section. One of her odd hobbies is collecting post cards.

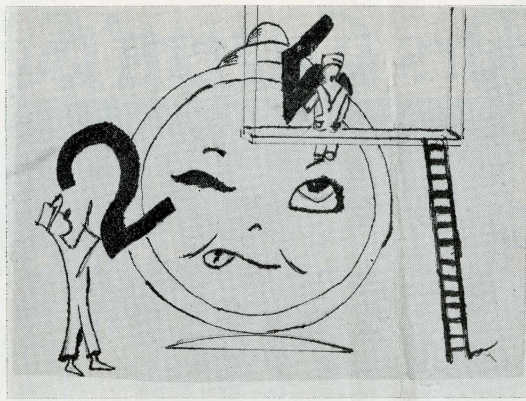

If you are ever looking for Grace, you are apt to find her chatting with three of her best pals: Violet Michalak, Jean Anne Hoerth and Betty Stanley.

Finally, we'd like to introduce you to Carlo (Max) Guidoboni, a new addition to our school. Max, who is the son of E.B. H.S.'s new Curriculum Supervisor, is a 13 year old eighth grader with lots of pep and vigor. He attended elementary school in Massachusetts. Among his favorite past-times are coin collecting and drawing.

You'll often find him surrounded by close pals Dan Lillis, Robby Cotter and John Fox.

Max Guidoboni

"What would you like to do if you had a twenty-fifth hour added each day?"

"Sleep."

Maybe my approach is wrong I decided. Perhaps I was too quick, too gruff. I found Mike Henderek and Bill Gruver in the hall. Hum, honor students . . . maybe.

Coaxing them with the sweetest voice I could manage and crossing my fingers, I began, "If you could have one hour added everyday to do anything you wished, what would you do?"

"Sleep," was the reply.

I groaned, I pleaded, be original, be amusing, but their word was final. How about a teacher? Filled with hope, I dashed off to German. Now I'll find at least one remark to suit me.

"Guten morgnan Miss Schwarzkopf, if you could have one hour added everyday, what would you like to then?"

"Sleep."

Sharing the Spotlight

Ever wonder what's going on in other high schools? Here's the lowdown as found by rummaging through student publications in other New Jersey high schools.

Looks like we have a twin! One of the Bears' rivals, the Falcons of Bridgewater-Raritan High School attend a campus style high school similar to ours, their school paper is named the Campus Courier and they recently had a Winter Wonderland Dance in the school cafeteria! Another point of interest is that the legend "Beat East Brunswick" appeared on the front page of their November paper in big bold letters. Friend or foe?

A new tradition at the same school is to allow every undefeated athletic team the privilege of rewarding the coaches with a shower—fully dressed.

By the way, the Falcons succeeded in beating E.B.H.S. in football by a score of 26-0.

The girls finally made the top in New Brunswick High School. A recent edition of the Brunswick Highlights stated that the first girl president in ten years had been elected. The girls not only moved in on the president's seat, but they also took all offices but the vice presidency.

In a column in the "Highlights" titled "Did'ja Know?", this item was found: a certain blue-eyed blond "her"-icane

No, no, no. I imagined it. Not everyone. It's a conspiracy. My "raven" is people and unless I switch to Poe's unified effect of horror, I'll flunk journalism. Won't this raven leave me, please?

Somewhere, someone must have a different answer. Bumping into Ken Pearson I thought maybe this is it. I repeated my all too familiar question and hark! Ken rolled his eyes, said "hummm," and then "Sleep."

Penny Valenta and Marlene Novak failed me also by replying that dreaded word.

Seeing Marty Tomasko in my study hall, I decided to ask him, maybe he wouldn't be another raven.

"Marty, if you could add one hour to your day to do whatever you wanted to, what would you do?"

"I'd feel sorry for all the clockmakers, and watchmakers trying to fit it in."

calls her favorite date a "him"-icane.

From the "It grinds slowly, but it grinds" school, better known as Millburn High School, these uncommon answers to a common question were found.

The question was: "Why do you want the seniors to graduate?"

Some answers included: "Who's going to graduate?" and "What's a senior?" Wonder if we'll have similar reactions next year when E.B.H.S. boasts its first senior class.

Another item from the Miller indicates that the school "casualty" rate has been steadily increasing: 45 broken arms . . . 27 broken legs . . . 900 broken dates . . . and 75 broke boys. Wonder why? Well, it seems that the school sponsored an "ever-thriving penny collection", and class competition was extremely keen, accounting for the growing "casualty" list.

Next month, we hope to bring you more news on what's going on in neighboring schools!

Campaign Yields Surprising Results

"I am sure with people like you as freshmen in high school, working for the school, there will be no question of a high accreditation."

"Before answering the main theme of your letter . . . let me compliment you on your letter writing. You are brief and to the point, with a good flow of words."

"We certainly wish you great success in this endeavor, and know that your Campus Courier will meet the high standards you are trying to attain."

These excerpts are just a few of the glowing responses received by students in Mr. Jasper's ninth grade Language Arts sections in answer to an advertising campaign that the class has been sponsoring. The purpose of the campaign was two-fold: to increase advertising in the school paper and to serve as a culminating activity for a unit on business letter writing.

Most of the students who received answers to their letters were agreeably surprised at the interest the various firms expressed in the campaign. Although most of the businesses consulted were unable to place ads in the Campus Courier because of company policy, the companies were practically unanimous in their praise of the initiative and letter-writing skill of the students.

Among the students who received answers to their letters were Frank Lynn, Ruth Enchelmeier, JoAnne Diller, John O'Neill and Roni Protko. But, perhaps the most interesting letter was the one received by Carol Ann Campbell:

Dear Miss Campbell:

In my capacity as Western Advertising Manager of the New York News, I am not in a position to commit the company I represent to advertising expenditures. However, due to a very worthy cause so ably presented, I would like to personally buy some advertising space in your high school publication.

In addition to your well-written and well-thought-out sales letter, I have another reason for this consideration. By some strange coincidence, I have a niece with the same name as yours; she would be about the same age, and I believe, attending the same school. If you should meet her, will you ask her to drop me a line and tell me all about herself and her family?

Sincerely,

John Campbell

Calendar of Events

January 27—Post-Wrestling Dance in Gym after Meet. Sponsored by Variety Club. Quarter ends.
February 3—Valentine Dance for grades 9, 10, 11. By Student Council.
February 10—Post-Basketball Dance in Gym. By Drill Team
February 17—Post-Basketball Dance in Gym. By Varsity Club

Valentine Dance Is Scheduled By Student Council Committee

SHALL WE DANCE? — S. Hamilton, D. Koty and N. Wiederkehr, Social Committee heads, prepare decorations for upcoming Valentine Dance.

The E.B.H.S. cafeteria will be turned into a ballroom on the night of Friday, February 3 when the Social Committee of the Student Council presents a Valentine Dance.

Decorations for the dance will center on a Valentine's Day theme with the focal point of the decorations being a large mobile in the shape of a heart hanging in the center of the room.

The cost of the dance will be $1.50 per couple and dress for the evening will be suits for the boys and party dresses for the girls. A ticket committee is being appointed to sell tickets through the homeroom classes.

Making all arrangements for the dance will be the members of the Social Committee: Dana Koty, Sandy Hamilton and Nancy Wiederkehr. The Decoration Committee consists of Mickey Opaleski, Ed Juba, Don Cotter, Dot Wiskowski and Linda Herbert.

According to Dana Koty, "A large turnout is expected because the dance will be open to all members of grades nine, ten, and eleven."

The dance will begin at 8 p.m. and end at 11. Plans are now being made for choosing an orchestra for the evening.

The next dance sponsored by Student Council will be held in April when a Spring Dance is scheduled.

Weather Hampers Cagers' Schedule

Bears to Meet South River JVs At Ram's Court in Next Contest

With weather playing havoc with their schedule, the E.B.H.S. varsity basketball team is getting set for their sixth game of the season. Their opponent will be the South River JVs.

The game is set for Tuesday, February 7 at the Ram's court. Earlier in the season, the South River team fell victim to the Bears by a score of 53-34.

According to Coach John Emery, the weather has been a dominant reason for the small number of games that have been played thus far. In Coach Emery's words, "It's been all practice; no games." The game scheduled with Edison for last Friday and cancelled because of the snow is in the process of being rescheduled.

In preparing for the tussle with South River, the Bears will probably be relying on their starting five, Ed Scupp, Howard Doosey, Joe Dobrzynski, Bill Gruver and Mike Rowland.

Scupp is the leading scorer for the Bears at the present time with 64 points. He has been scoring on 62% of his shots. Dobrzynski is next with 52 points on 48% of his shots.

The three other players in the starting lineup stack up as follows: Doosey 29 points on 41% of his shots; Gruver: 34 points on 36% of his attempts; and Rowland with 39 points on 24% of his tries.

Although the Green and White had little difficulty in subduing the Rams earlier in the season, Coach Emery feels the rivals have improved and "they're tough at home on a very small court."

In games earlier this season, the Bears compiled a record of 4-2. They lost to Bridgewater 56-49 and to Brick Township 78-56. Their wins were over the South River JVs, North Burlington Regional, 60-20, and two victories over Middlesex, 61-22 and 70-41.

During the course of the season the team has been faced with an injury problem which has affected the team's depth. Included on the injury list have been George Pressler, Tom Chrapowski and Mike Henderek.

Another problem that the team has been facing is the improvement of their defensive play.

The East Brunswick High School freshmen basketball team with a 6-0 record is preparing to meet Perth Amboy next Friday.

So far this season the Bears have won games against Middlesex, 42-33, Linwood, 47-36, Brick Township, 58-38, Piscataway, 49-30, North Burlington, 42-19, and Edison, 37-30. The results of the South River game are unknown as this paper goes to press.

T-E-A-M! — Bear cagers demonstrate form which led them to an easy 60-20 victory over N. Burlington Regional High School.

Men Behind the Scenes

by Mel Friedman and Bob Slovak

Coach Tighe

The present coach of our J.V. basketball team (and assistant coach to the varsity squad) is Mr. William Tighe who was inspired to become a teacher in his sophomore year in high school. During the three years that Mr. Tighe has been at E.B.H.S., he has become a familiar and well-liked figure around the campus.

Mr. Tighe, who calls Millburn, New Jersey his hometown, attended secondary school there. It was a well-established school, boasting good athletic teams. He participated in football, basketball, and track during his high school career.

Leaving Millburn High, he went on to attend Rutgers University where he earned his B.S. and masters degree. Besides taking part in their basketball and track teams, he was also president of the Rutgers Varsity Club.

Graduating from Rutgers, Mr. Tighe was drafted into the army and served a two year hitch with the Military Police.

Mr. Tighe is also the coach of the East Brunswick track team. This, and coaching the basketball team, gives him much pleasure, as he enjoys teaching and coaching teen-agers.

Mr. Tighe, now living in South River, weighs 6'-4", is married and has one son. He has also been the assistant director of the East Brunswick Swimming Pool for 3 years.

Mr. William Tighe, well known and well liked East Brunswick coach—optimistic, but cautious.

East Brunswick High School is very fortunate to have in its freshman basketball coach a man such as Mr. Anthony Razzano. He is able, competent, and above all, keenly interested in students. Mr. Razzano enjoys working with the teachers and staff of our school. As he states, "The top-notch faculty exerts influence on our students."

Mr. Razzano is as great an asset to the team as the team is to the school. He is also an asset to the faculty.

Coach Razzano

Mr. Razzano was born in South River, where he grew up and attended South River High School. There, actively interested in sports, he played baseball and basketball. From there he went to Glassboro State College, where he earned his bachelor's degree. At Glassboro he played basketball and was captain of his baseball team. Incidentally, he was a classmate of Mr. John Caserio and Mr. Richard Waldov, teachers in our school. The trio also played on the same basketball team together.

At present Mr. Razzano teaches eighth grade Language Arts and Social Studies and attends Columbia University, where he is majoring in guidance work. He hopes to earn a masters degree in his studies.

Mr. Razzano seems very optimistic about his team's chances. He is sure of the unity of the team. "The team has played together as a unit for some time. All are sincere and here to play sportsmanlike basketball."

Mr. Razzano stresses that he is interested in any and all sports. But best of all, he likes to spend his spare time with his two children, Joseph 3½ years, and Susan 10 months.

County Champion Matmen Host to Long Branch Tonight

The E.B.H.S. wrestling team, which is playing a full varsity schedule this year, meets Long Branch this evening at 7:30 p.m. in the high school gym.

The team started out the current season over the Christmas holidays when it won the Middlesex County Wrestling Tournament. Richie Aiello and Jeff Brown won individual first place championships in that tournament. Richie was also voted the outstanding wrestler at the same tournament.

In the first of the twelve meets to be held this year, East Brunswick overwhelmed Brick Township by a score of 31-8. In the Sayreville meet held on January 11, the E.B.H.S. team won 43-8. In its third contest of the regular season, the Bears suffered their first defeat, losing, 24-16 to Piscataway Township. Earlier this week, the East Brunswick matmen met Edison, but the results of that match are unknown as this paper goes to press.

After the close of the regular season, the Bears will participate in the District Wrestling Tournament. Coach Jay Doyle feels that the team stands a good chance of winning this tournament because the Bears will face the same teams that they already defeated at the County Tournament earlier in the season.

If the East Brunswick team should win the District Wrest-

MEET THE CHAMPS—Here's the E.B.H.S. wrestling team which copped the title at the Middlesex County Tournament over the Christmas holidays. Back row (l. to r.) Coach J. Doyle, C. Boig, B. Besnier, E. ling Tournament, the team would go on to the Regional Tournament. This path eventually leads to the State High School Tournament.

One of the prominent members of the Bear team is Billy Toscano, who last year won the State Junior High School Wrestling Championship. Other members of the team are: Bob Smalley, Bob Wright, Richie Ai-ello, Ed Sempkowski, Fred Blumh, Ed Emens, Bill Beisun, Richard Chlapkowski, Mike Fore, Ken Pearson, Frank Shin, and Jeff Brown.

The final match of January will be held on January 31 when the Bears will meet Toms River at 7:30 p.m. at home. For a glance at the remainder of the season, see "Season's Schedules" elsewhere on this page.
